- Agent for trustee – Assists the trustee by providing custodial, bookkeeping and investment management services as well as advice on the administration of the trust.

A deeper look at our services

TRUSTEE OR CO-TRUSTEE

Trustees are obligated to act in the best interests of both current and future trust beneficiaries – an often complex and time-consuming responsibility. Raymond James Trust can serve as sole trustee or as co-trustee alongside a family member, friend or trusted advisor such as a CPA. Trustees and co-trustees must comply with specific trust document provisions as well as state and federal laws that govern trusts, and typically have a number of responsibilities.

AGENT FOR TRUSTEE

For those who wish to maintain greater control as an individual trustee or don't feel ready to hire a corporate trustee, we can also serve as agent for trustee. As agent, Raymond James Trust takes on a more administrative role with the named trustee and provides the following services:

- Fiduciary investment management platform
- Dual income and principal accounting
- Bill payment services

- Tax preparation
- Income, interest and dividend collection
- Daily cash management
- Maintenance of records
- Safeguarding and custody of trust assets

COMPARING TRUSTEE AND AGENT FOR TRUSTEE

Choosing the right partnership for you

The choice is yours when deciding how you'd like to partner with Raymond James Trust in order to best suit your needs. And oftentimes, that choice comes down to whether you hire a corporate trustee or an agent for trustee.

The main difference between a trustee and an agent for trustee is that Raymond James Trust as trustee is responsible for the fiduciary distribution decisions per the terms of the trust – meaning, deciding who receives how much money and when based on what the trust says. As agent for trustee, Raymond James Trust would instead take direction from the named trustee. The named trustee would make the fiduciary distribution decisions, and Raymond James Trust as agent for trustee would simply execute on that decision (i.e., make the payment from the trust to the beneficiary).

Either way, we'll work closely with you and your financial advisor, who continues to be involved in the investment and relationship management of the trust.

Agent for trustee – generally good for those who want to maintain greater control as an individual trustee

Corporate trustee – generally good for those who want someone to manage every aspect of the trust

PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE FOR ESTATE AND TRUSTEE FOR TRUST SETTLEMENT

KNOWLEDGEABLE SUPPORT TO CARRY OUT YOUR VISION

When the time comes to name a personal representative (also sometimes referred to as executor) for your estate or a trustee for your trust, your obvious choices may include a family member or friend. However, the responsibilities of a personal representative or trustee are often time-consuming, and the inherent legal liabilities can be overwhelming.

When Raymond James Trust serves in a personal representative/trustee capacity, we provide guidance and experience to ensure that the assets are distributed according to the wishes of the individual who established the will or trust. Our goal is the same as yours – to achieve the most efficient, accurate and timely settlement of the estate or trust at the lowest cost possible.

Estate/trust settlement services are appropriate for clients who:

- Have their assets titled in their individual name. These assets are governed by the will and require probate after death
- Have their assets titled in a revocable trust at death
- Would like the confidence that comes from knowing their estate/trust is being settled by a corporate fiduciary, reducing unnecessary expenses
- Would like the confidence of knowing their heirs will be provided for in accordance with the terms of the will/trust
- Want their estate/trust settled according to their wishes
